

Cloud Computing

BUILD THE CLOUD OF THE FUTURE

Balancing budget pressure and the need to innovate, cloud computing is Federal IT's future. A recent study shows that Feds can save $16.6 billion annually if agencies move just three mission-critical applications to the cloud. Additionally, research predicts Platform as a Service can save Feds $20.5 billion annually. While Cloud First gave the initial push, FedRAMP is opening the door to secure Federal cloud options. But there is no one path to the cloud. Government Acquisitions, Inc. (GAI), a HUBZone certified small business, provides cloud solutions to help agencies evaluate current cloud models and navigate the many cloud options. Cloud computing supports your mission by:

- ▶ Architecting a cloud solution that fits individual customer needs
- ▶ Developing cloud strategies
- ▶ Migrating workloads and applications to the public/private/hybrid cloud
- ▶ Adopting appropriate governance structures, including chargeback models
- ▶ Reducing downtime during migration/procurement cycles
- ▶ Automating the IT service management process
